

Devon Historic Churches Day

'Refreshing' Anecdotes and Refreshment suggestions.....

The DHCD is always very appreciative of all the refreshments provided for its visitors to the churches on the day – we know how much it enhances the enjoyment of our supporters who are 'out and about' doing their bit to contribute to our commitment to support our glorious Devon Churches.

There is a variety of hospitality offered at events each year, with many providing traditional Cream Teas to accompany activities in the church on the day – others provide delicious lunches as part of their events and there are many mentions of homemade cakes and much more.....

A very kindly supporter who goes 'the extra mile' – regularly over 25 – has offered suggestions for those providing refreshments for those participants who are involved in quite serious exercise on the day:

- Apples
- Currants
- Nuts
- Coca Cola
- + of course the vital water and some disposable beakers.

So please, everyone, do visit our churches.

- Details of those open and participating can be found in the Guide to Open Churches available by clicking on the link on this website
- Their glorious interiors are varied and historic – and the congregations, dedicated to their survival, will offer you a warm welcome.

We also enjoy any anecdotes you have to offer and any photos you wish to send of your activities – so please let us have details of your 'adventures' by emailing:
